Prohibited behavior can be verbal, visual, or physical and may occur between coworkers, a superior and a subordinate, or an employee and a non-employee.

Sexual Harassment – a type of discrimination which occurs when an employee is subjected to unwelcome sexual advances, requests for sexual favors, or any other conduct of a sexual nature when submission to the conduct is a condition of employment, an employee’s reaction to the conduct is used as a basis for employment decisions affecting that employee and/or the conduct has the purpose or effect of interfering with the employee’s work performance or creating an intimidating, hostile or offensive work environment.

Policy (CALEA 26.1.3, 31.2.3, 34.1.3)

The Virginia Beach Police Department prohibits and will not tolerate, does not condone, discrimination or harassment of any employee by any other person with whom that individual comes in contact as part of their work environment. No employee will be the target of unwelcome discrimination or harassment, verbal, visual, or physical. Any activity of this type shall be treated as misconduct and appropriate disciplinary action(s) shall be imposed up to and including dismissal. All employees are expected to treat each other with courtesy and respect, and to refrain from any behavior which may be offensive to a reasonable person.

In addition, if a supervisor allows discrimination or harassment to occur or condones it when he/she knows it is taking place or reasonably ought to know it is taking place, it is also considered misconduct. Supervisors are required to stop all conduct which may be offensive to a reasonable person. Examples of discrimination and harassment include, but are not limited to: (1) unwelcome requests or demands for sexual favors; (2) unwelcome touching of an individual; (3) basing the granting or withholding of a term or condition of employment on sexual favors; (4) sexual oriented kidding, teasing and jokes; (5) verbal abuse of a sexual nature; (6) graphic or degrading comments, insults, put downs about an individual or his/her appearance; (7) displaying, posting, sharing, faxing, emailing, texting and/or any other form of social media of sexually suggestive, racial or otherwise offensive jokes, objects, pictures, cartoons, drawings, videos, movies, cards, and/or photographs; (8) verbal description or discussion, implied or explicit, of sexual acts, conduct, content; and/or (9) physical gestures of a sexual or offensive nature. Note that conduct is prohibited and may be considered misconduct even though the person engaging in the conduct was not intentionally directing it towards the person who is offended. For example, Employee A tells an improper joke to Employee B but Employee C is within earshot. Employee B is not offended by the joke but Employee C is. Employee A may be disciplined for misconduct, even though he/she was not directing the joke towards Employee C.
