Approval Process

Applications for permits for special events are submitted by citizens, organizations or the City of Virginia Beach to the City of Virginia Beach Resort Management and Special Events Office. Upon receipt, the applications for permits are forwarded to the Virginia Beach Police Department and other city agencies for recommendations of approval or denial.

The Special Events Coordinator/Lieutenant is responsible for reviewing and forwarding all special event permits applied for in the City of Virginia Beach to the command in which the event will take place. The special event coordinator/office in each command will review each permit. The special event permit will be recommend for approval or denial by the Commanding Officer of the precinct in which the event will occur or his designee and forward the response to the Resort Management and Special Events Office.
Planning Stage

The Special Events Coordinator/Lieutenant will coordinate events that are large in nature and require supplemental officers from several commands. Plans for providing police services for special events will be conducted in accordance with General Order 13.01, (ICS/NIMS).

The Special Events Coordinator/Lieutenant will either serve as or designate an Incident Commander for the event. The size of the event will dictate the amount of personnel and the appropriate rank of the leader to serve as the Incident Commander. Factors to be considered in designating the Incident Commander and police response to the event include:

- Anticipated attendance at the event
- Other events that may be occurring in proximity to the event being planned
- The location of the event
- The amount of traffic anticipated
- Adequacy of Parking or the need to establish shuttle services
- Adequacy of Public Transportation to move attendees

In advance of the event, the Incident Commander will prepare a written operations plan that projects the following:

- Anticipated Traffic Volume
- Anticipated Crime Problems
- A Traffic Control Plan
- A Crowd Control Plan

From the projections formulated by the Incident Commander, documented planning may occur that provides for the following:

- Personnel required to manage the event
- The need for additional personnel from other police precincts
- The need for police personnel from outside agencies
- The need for Special Operations personnel for Dignitary/Executive Protection
- The need for Special Investigations personnel for intelligence or crowd infiltration
- The need for support from other city agencies for support in traffic control
- The need for volunteers to assist the police function
- Logistical support - (police vehicles, motorcycles, bicycles, ATV’s) Equipment from city departments (sand fence, barricades, cones, signage)
- Coordination of city departments and outside agencies, EMS, Fire, Parks & Recreation, and Public Works
- Traffic rerouted/Street Closures/Contingency plan for traffic – before closing a street the following should be considered
  - Impact on traffic around the venue
  - Impact on Police/Fire/EMS response
  - Closing/rerouting a street impact on public transportation
  - Closing/rerouting a street impact on accessibility to the disabled
- Parking – will there be ample parking for the event so not to impact traffic/pedestrians.
- Same Day Events - Events that are planned throughout the city that are on the same date.
After Action Report

Upon conclusion of the special event the Incident Commander will conduct an after action review and prepare a report in accordance with General Order 13.01 (ICS/NIMS.) This report will be forwarded to the Special Events Coordinator/Lieutenant to be filed with the Special Events Permit, and the Commanding Officer of the precinct in which the event occurred. This report should include the following:

- Impacts that were not foreseen during the planning stage
- Traffic or crowd management problems
- Manpower/volunteer concerns
- City Services needed
- Problems that occurred and a solution to ensure them from occurring in the future
