Meetings Enhance Communications

The Virginia Beach Police Department has established a program to enhance its ability to communicate with and better serve its community.

The Virginia Beach Citizens' Advisory Committees are comprised of citizens representing a cross section of all neighborhoods and businesses in the four precincts.

Community Cooperation

One of the most valuable assets available to the Police Department in keeping any neighborhood safe is the cooperation of alert, concerned residents.

Meetings provide a formalized process that facilitates citizen and community cooperation with the police.

City Departments

Identify specific and potential areas concerning police and other municipal services. The City of Virginia Beach has many departments that attend monthly meetings.

Neighborhood Housing & Preservation, Conventions & Visitor Development, Police, Fire, Mental Health, Office of the Commonwealth's Attorney, Parks & Recreation, Code Enforcement and Zoning Departments are available to answer the concerns of citizens.
